

20th June 2022

RE: McCain Price Increase

Dear Valued Customer,

At McCain we continue to strive to manage any rising input costs through innovation and sustainable cost improvements. However, we have continued to see significant movements in a number of input costs with raw materials, commodities and freight, all increasing sharply which has resulted in a price increase of McCain products.

As a result please be advised that effective the 11th July 2022 McCain Foods will be making a list price change to our Products.

All orders placed for these products after this date will be invoiced at the new prices listed on the following page.

As always, we are committed to providing superior products and Foodservice solutions to the Foodservice market and your business.

On behalf of the McCain Foodservice Team I would like to thank you for your ongoing support. A complete updated price list will follow at a later date.

For any further information, please contact your Foodservice Representative.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Goudie
McCain Foods (AUST) Pty Ltd.

